

Leadership Practices

1 April 2017

1. Why is enabling others to act so essential in leadership?
2. Great delegation is the key when it comes to enabling others to act. Share with the group an experience where you were delegated a task well and when you where delegated a task poorly.
3. How well do you, personally, respond to encouragement?
4. Why is being specific in your encouragement important to the person receiving the encouragement?
5. Clear communication is essential in any church, organisation, club, business etc. What are the results of great communication when it comes to being in a relationship, church, organisation, business, sports team? And what are the results of poor communication when it comes to these things?
6. In relation to the ahievement of one's purpose, Why is it so important to ask people what they have heard, and to create an environment where people can seek clarity on what they have heard?